Keep Supporting Local

Kia ora tatou,

Following the latest reduction in the Official Cash Rate (OCR) by the Reserve Bank Of New Zealand (RBNZ) in November and the subsequent reduction in some interest rates, there are mixed opinions amongst economists as to whether or not the OCR will be cut again in February, or whether the OCR is now as low as it's going to go at 2.25%. Given the mixed opinions, if there is a cut in February, the likelihood is that it will only be a small reduction, so I think that where interest rates have landed now is probably about as good as it's going to get.

Hopefully, on the back of recent interest rate reductions and especially given the time of year, I'd like to think that more people will have more disposable income to spend despite the ongoing cost of living challenges. If this is the case, then I would encourage everyone to support our local businesses by shopping local and utilising local products and services whenever you can.

Many businesses have been doing it tough for a long time and indeed still are, so a boost in business and cashflow would be most welcome as we head into the time of year when traditionally we do increase our spending beyond the everyday essentials. I hope that you are able to support local, thank you for what you have already done and thank you in advance for your support that is still yet to come.

Ngā mihi mahana,

KEVIN O'LEARY

What an awesome way to close out the year! Our After 5 Networking Event hosted by Inspire was exactly what everyone needed. It's hard to believe how fast the year has flown by. People came together to celebrate each other, settling in with great food in hand and catching up with familiar faces as the holiday season approached. There was so much conversation about work updates, Black Friday plans, ONE DAY SALE hunting and Christmas shopping chaos. Such a lovely time among a community of friends coming together at the end of a long eventful year to share stories and just enjoy being together.

A huge thank you to Inspire for hosting such a warm and welcoming evening and giving everyone the chance to relax and enjoy themselves. Bring on another year of good chats, good connections and good people

Securing Your Business Premises

By Dave Loader, BNH Crime Prevention Specialist

Before you turn out the lights and close your workplace doors for the last time in 2025, please review this checklist to help keep your property safe from crime over the festive break.

- Ensure your premise alarm is working and is monitored by a reputable security company. Update the monitoring company of any key holder contact number changes due to the holiday period. Let the monitoring company know when you plan to reopen for business in 2026.
- Request your local security company to provide temporary random external checks of your premise to deter potential offenders.
- If you have CCTV ensure that this is in good working order to capture any important footage of incidents should they occur.
- External sensor lighting is also a good deterrent to any potential offender(s).
- All external assets (Trailers & vehicles) should be locked inside if that’s possible otherwise, they should be locked up within a gated/fenced property. Any containers on site should be secured with high-grade purpose specific locks.
- One final thought, take photos of valuable items as you're locking them away. NZ Police say that either photos, serial numbers or engraved items are a helpful resource for their investigations. Every year the police recover items that remain unidentified and therefore are unable to be reunited with their rightful owners.

ALB001 | May 2013

The festive season is a busy time for hospitality, and keeping our community safe is more important than ever. The Intoxication Assessment Tool helps staff take a consistent, confident approach when assessing alcohol impairment.

Using the SCAB framework (Speech, Coordination, Appearance, Behaviour), staff can quickly recognise signs of intoxication and take the right action, whether that’s offering support, slowing service, or ensuring someone gets home safely.

This Christmas, let’s look out for one another and create safer, more enjoyable celebrations for everyone. Wishing you a safe and happy holiday season!
